Message from the Presiding Officer

I am pleased to present the 2018-19 Annual Report for the Pay Equity Hearings Tribunal.

The Tribunal introduced electronic filing, accompanied by modified Rules of Practice and more streamlined forms, early in 2018-19, with the aim of improving access. As a result, 16.7% of all documents filed with the Tribunal were filed electronically in 2018-19.

The Tribunal received five new applications in the fiscal year 2018-19 and disposed of 8 cases overall on or before March 31, 2019. There were, of course, also cases that remained pending at the commencement of the fiscal year which formed part of this year's caseload. Not including inactive files such as those on hold pending court decisions or a large group of related cases treated as one matter, the Tribunal disposed of 80% of all active cases in 2018-19.

Several cases that continue to appear as "pending" from year to year have been adjourned as a consequence of the uncertainty about the extent of the obligation to maintain pay equity in those broader public sector workplaces where it was achieved by the proxy method of comparison. The Tribunal issued a decision addressing this issue in January 2016, but the workplace parties all filed judicial review applications, which they did not proceed to perfect until 2018. The applications for judicial review were heard by the Divisional Court in early February 2019.

The historical data summarizing the Tribunal's annual caseload over the last several years shows a perplexing situation. The number of applications this year continued to decrease. As the Tribunal is a second-level decision maker, and does not have originating jurisdiction to deal with issues of compliance with the Act, a variety of factors can affect its caseload in any given year. Parties in collective bargaining relationships may seek to address some of them outside of the enforcement processes contemplated in the Act, for example through bargaining or interest or rights arbitrations. A fluctuation in the caseload of the Pay Equity Office, or an increase/decrease in cases settled or in compliance with orders may impact it. Whatever the cause, the dramatic swings in the numbers of applications filed from one year to the next makes planning for the future extremely difficult, but also highlights the wisdom of the continuing shared services and cross-appointment arrangements between the Tribunal and the Ontario Labour Relations Board, which permits us to maintain the same level of service within the same financial parameters on an ongoing basis.

Mary Anne McKellar
Presiding Officer

Overview

The Pay Equity Commission (the “Commission”) was established by section 27 of the Pay Equity Act, 1987, c.34 and is continued by subsection 27(1) of the Pay Equity Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.P.7 as amended (the “PEA”). The Commission consists of two separate, independent parts: the Pay Equity Hearings Tribunal (the “Tribunal”) and the Pay Equity Office. The purpose of the Pay Equity Act is to redress systemic gender discrimination in compensation for work performed by employees in female job classes. Its implementation contributes to a fairer and more productive workplace.

The Tribunal is an adjudicative agency of the Government of Ontario responsible for adjudicating disputes that arise under the PEA. Pursuant to section 28(1) of the PEA, the Tribunal is a tripartite board, composed of the Presiding Officer, Alternate Presiding Officer, a number of Deputy Presiding Officers and Members, representative of employers and employees (Figure 1).

The Tribunal deals exclusively with issues arising under the Pay Equity Act. The Tribunal has exclusive jurisdiction to determine all questions of fact or law that arise in any matter before it. Tribunal decisions are based on the evidence presented and submissions received and on the panel’s interpretation of the facts in dispute, legislation and jurisprudence. The Tribunal is committed to a hearing process that balances the need to be fair, accessible, economical and efficient. . It deals as expeditiously and fairly as reasonably possible in processing, settling or adjudicating all matters that come before it. The decision of the Tribunal is final and conclusive for all purposes. Decisions of the Tribunal cannot be appealed but may be judicially reviewed. The Tribunal encourages co-operation among employers, bargaining agents and employees and is committed to encouraging settlement among the parties

The Tribunal is entitled to determine its own practices and procedures and has the authority to make rules and forms governing its practices and the conduct of those appearing before it. The Tribunal’s Rules, Forms and Information Bulletins are available on its website at <http://www.olrb.gov.on.ca/pec/PEHT/index.html> or from its offices at 505 University Avenue, 2nd Floor, Toronto, Ontario, M5G 2P1.

Organizational Structure

The Ontario Labour Relations Board (the “OLRB”) provides administrative and institutional support to the Tribunal. The Tribunal benefits from the OLRB’s sophisticated administrative and legal support, as well as information technology and the potential to take advantage of the expertise of its mediators. While the Tribunal has its own complement of Deputy Presiding Officers and Members, the Tribunal Presiding Officer, Alternate Presiding Officer, all of the Deputy Presiding Officers and four of the current Members are cross-appointed to other tribunals ensuring that the Tribunal is staffed with experienced decision-makers at a cost that is shared with other tribunals. (Figure 1)

The Tribunal also participates in a broader, shared-services arrangement with the OLRB and the Workplace Safety and Insurance Appeals Tribunal. These adjudicative agencies share printing and production, and common library services.

Tribunal Processes

Upon receipt of an application, the Tribunal sends a Confirmation of Filing out to the parties confirming that the application has been filed, providing the Tribunal file number and advising the parties of the date by which a response must be filed.

With respect to the adjudication of disputes, the Tribunal continues to encourage the parties to resolve their disputes without the need for adjudication. Once the response has been filed, many cases which involve more than a single party are scheduled for a Pre-Hearing Conference with the Presiding Officer, Alternate Presiding Officer or Deputy Presiding Officer where one of the objectives is to explore with the parties opportunities to settle all or a part of the dispute.

In order to increase its efficiency and reduce the parties' costs, the Tribunal continues its efforts to reduce the number of days it takes to adjudicate a matter. The Tribunal proactively identifies preliminary issues and directs the parties to address them, and encourages the parties to raise any issues they may identify well in advance of the hearing with a view to determining these matters on the basis of written submissions. The Tribunal continues to use Pre-Hearing Conferences and/or case management meetings to organize and streamline the issues in dispute so that a matter can be adjudicated as efficiently as possible. In addition, parties are routinely asked to exchange detailed submissions and documents well in advance of a hearing in order to make better use of available hearing time. It has been the Tribunal's experience that requiring the exchange of detailed submissions and documents in advance of the hearing not only serves to reduce hearing time but also facilitates the parties' ability to resolve some or all of the dispute.

In the past, the parties frequently agreed to extend the time limits for the filing of submissions and/or agreed to adjourn set hearing dates. This practice led to applications remaining outstanding for unacceptable periods of time. The Tribunal now discourages adjournments except where compelling circumstances arise and requires parties to offer substitute dates within 72 hours.

Key Activities

The Tribunal's key activities are adjudication and dispute resolution in the area of Pay Equity. These two functions are the foundation for the Tribunal's objective of adjudicative and dispute resolution excellence.

Adjudication

The Tribunal is tripartite in nature, comprised of neutral presiding officers and member representatives of employers and employees/trade unions. The members are expected to bring the perspective and concerns of their community to the task of adjudication. All of the presiding officers have cross-appointments with at least one other adjudicative agency. The Tribunal holds hearings where evidence is presented and oral arguments are made. Pay equity issues are often complex; hearings can take multiple days to complete. Tribunal decisions are issued in writing and posted on accessible websites (www.canlii.org). Parties are encouraged to seek independent legal advice before coming to the Tribunal.

Mediation

Almost every case is scheduled for a pre-hearing consultation before a presiding officer, other than the one who will hear the case. The goal of the pre-hearing is to identify and narrow the issues in dispute, organize the litigation to ensure that it is ready for hearing and look for opportunities to settle some or all of the issues. Pre-hearings are more informal than a hearing and provide an opportunity for parties to ask questions about the Tribunal's hearing procedures. Pre-hearings reduce hearing time, saving both parties and the Tribunal time and expense.

IT Initiatives and Electronic Filing

In early 2018-2019, the Pay Equity Hearings Tribunal was able to offer electronic filing to its stakeholders. The Tribunal's forms were made available electronically on its website and are hosted by Ontario Shared Services. A total of seven forms, in both French and English, are currently available to be submitted electronically. Parties are now able to file correspondence, submissions and other material electronically as well. The e-filing project necessitated the modernization of the Tribunal's forms, Notices, Information Bulletins, and Rules of Practice. In 2018-2019, 16.7% of the total number of forms and submissions filed with the Tribunal were filed electronically.

A project to replace the Tribunal's older website with a new modernized website is expected to commence in 2019/2020 and continue in the next fiscal year, subject to resources. Technology has advanced considerably since the current website was created. The Tribunal expects to attain a more user-friendly and accessible website for the public and stakeholders as well as an updated look.

Caseload Processing

The total caseload for the fiscal year 2018-2019 amounted to 36 applications, which was a combination of 31 pending applications carried over from the previous year plus 5 new applications. The Tribunal's case load each year is made up of two parts: the cases carried over into the year from the previous year and the cases filed during the current year.

During the 2018-2019 fiscal year, the Tribunal disposed of eight applications. Three applications were granted, two were terminated and three settled.

Twenty-nine applications remained pending on March 31, 2019. Twenty-two of them relate to a single Order of the Pay Equity Office – eleven applications by the Pay Equity Office to enforce an Order, all of which have been held in abeyance pursuant to the Act because a further 11 applications objecting to the same Order were subsequently filed. These should properly be counted as a single case, bringing the pending number as of March 31, 2019 down to 8. The pending number also includes applications that remain open but were not actively pursued by the parties in 2018-19, such as cases adjourned pending a court decision in another file, and therefore the Tribunal could not take steps to dispose of them in the fiscal year. Thus, the number of actual disputes pending before the Tribunal on March 31, 2019 is significantly lower than suggested by the number of applications that remain open. The final disposition rate in 2018-19 was 22.2%, if all applications (including all 22 related files and inactive cases) are included, but 80% when only active files are included.

The Tribunal has made a practice in its Annual Report of providing caseload data of the kind set out in the preceding paragraphs and in the Caseload Statistics table. These numbers alone do not always provide a meaningful picture of the demand that those cases place on adjudicative resources, principally because that demand varies significantly from one application to another. A more nuanced understanding emerges from statistics relating to the number of pre-hearing conference dates scheduled (3) and held (2), hearings scheduled (15) and held (7), and number of written decisions issued this year (29). Even then, of course, there is considerable variation in the complexity of the decisions and the amount of time required to generate the reasons.

It is important to note that several applications filed with the Tribunal relate to maintenance issues relating to proxy pay equity plans, but they have been adjourned at the request of the parties pending the outcome of a judicial review proceeding which was heard in February 2019. This is in respect of a tribunal decision involving two separate unions and more than 200 employers. The outcome of the judicial review proceeding may significantly impact the Tribunal's caseload, not merely in terms of number of cases, but because the hearing into any of them would likely involve multiple days.

Definition of Terms:

- 1) Granted means that the application was, in whole or in large part, successful.
- 2) Dismissed means that the application was, in whole or in large part, not successful.
- 3) Terminated means that the application was not granted, dismissed or settled but was terminated at the parties' request or abandoned.
- 4) Settled includes all cases where the parties, either with or without the assistance of the Tribunal, settled the dispute, as well as cases that were adjourned.

Key Decisions

One important decision considered the differences between section 7 and section 14.1 of the Pay Equity Act in a circumstance where job duties and titles changed. The Tribunal held that changes in the job content or title or compensation of a job class under a pay equity plan may constitute a change in circumstances that neither the employer nor the bargaining agent believes renders the pay equity plan no longer appropriate but that may nevertheless require consideration of the maintenance obligation in section 7 of the Act. The Tribunal also held that the requirement to bargain (and to do so in good faith) in subsection 14.1(1) is engaged when one of the workplace parties (or both) forms a belief that some set of new circumstances makes the pay equity plan no longer appropriate and communicates that in the form of a notice to bargain to the other side.

In another precedent-setting case, the University of Western Ontario Faculty Association asserted that the University failed to comply with the Pay Equity Act while negotiating pay equity issues after the Union was certified to represent the librarians and archivists. Among the findings in this decision, the Tribunal found that a Letter of Understanding entered into between the parties during collective bargaining went beyond the strict requirements of the Act. There was no evidence to suggest that the minimum requirements of the Act had not been adhered to. Consequently, there was nothing that the Tribunal could do to resolve the issues that had arisen in the case..

Court Activity

During the 2018-2019 fiscal year, there were no new applications for judicial review filed with the Divisional Court. On April 1, 2018 there were three matters pending before the Courts. All matters pending were at the Divisional Court level. On April 25, 2018 one of the matters was dismissed. The remaining matters were two applications for judicial review of the same Tribunal decision. Those applications were heard in Divisional Court from February 5 to February 7, 2019.

Performance Measures

2018/2019 Commitment

- 25% of cases disposed of during the year
- Actual disposal rate 22 % overall and 80% of active files (see Case Processing section above for analysis)

Note: The settlement rate and time to conclude cases recognizes the complex nature of pay equity disputes which results in few negotiated settlements. As a result, almost all cases are decided only after lengthy hearings. In general, the same counsel represent the parties in pay equity cases and the scheduling of hearings is further extended by the availability of counsel as well as presiding officers and members who are cross-appointed to other Tribunals. In addition, a number of cases may arise out of the same Order or be otherwise related or will remain pending at the Tribunal as they work their way through the courts on judicial review or appeal, which also impacts the disposal rate..

Financial Performance

In accordance with the Ministry of Labour's Delegation of Financial Authority Framework, financial authority is delegated to the Presiding Officer (Chair) of the Tribunal. The Presiding Officer is required to ensure that public funds are used with integrity and honesty. The Tribunal's operating budget is included in the Ministry of Labour's estimates and allocation process, and the Tribunal is required to report to the Ministry each quarter with respect to its expenditures and planned future financial commitments. The total annual remuneration paid by the Tribunal for OIC appointees was $209,100. A cost-sharing of salaries with the Ontario Labour Relations Board is in place.

Each year, the Tribunal verifies through a Certificate of Assurance, that all of its transactions are reflected accurately and completely in the Public Accounts of Ontario, which are the annual financial statements.
